

Transition project

All of your secondary schools would like some work produced so that they can see at what level you are working at, especially as SATS didn't happen. We have given them a teacher assessment but there is nothing better than real work. SO..... This is what we have organised.

You need to choose a topic for a project (from the selection of books in your classroom) that you are going to carry out independently. It could be a good idea to choose something you already know things about. In school we won't have access to the internet for hygiene reasons so choose a good book.

Below are some things to help you and show you what must be included and what could be included.

You must have:

- A title page with your name and your secondary school name
- A contents page showing exactly what is in your project with page numbers (this will be the last thing to complete)
- A glossary explaining words that people may not know the meaning of

There will need to be a range of:

- Factual information,
- Drawn pictures labelled with captions,
- Mathematical data represented as some sort of graph,
- Non-fiction writing (e.g. biography, non-chronological report, newspaper report),
- Artwork

Good luck!
